The Prince Arthur Community Garden and greenhouse dome came from a collaborative vision for a year-round garden that our students and community members could access. Initially, the idea came up at a staff meeting. Then, former Vice Principal, Mr. Brad Raes took the idea to the School Community Council and planning from. Once funding was in place and materials were purchased, the

Beyond the greenhouse dome, the Co-op Community Farm project was being built around it. The MJRWS staff, students and staff at Prince Arthur &many community members worked Saskatchewan and will support our native pollinators. This is the only area of the garden that may feature plants that are not edible, otherwise the entire Food Farm features plants that are either edible, medicinal, or both. The Co-op Community Food Farm has other features that support pollinators & biodiversity, such as the bee bath, the bird bath and the bat house!
